Client-Tailored Services and Client-Imposed Restrictions

Balance Investments customizes and personalizes its advice to the unique needs and goals of each client beginning with an initial consultation, which may be in person or by telephone, to discover a client's individual financial situation and objectives. A written evaluation of each client's situation is generally provided to the client as part of the initial consultation. Regular, periodic reviews are also recommended in order to provide reminders and/or make adjustments to the specific actions to be taken. Each client's account is managed on the basis of the client's individual financial situation and investment objectives and in accordance with any reasonable restrictions imposed by the client on the management of the account. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

Wrap-Fee Programs

Balance Investments does not participate in wrap fee programs. (Wrap fee programs offer services for one all-inclusive fee.)

Assets

Balance Investments manages $1,100,000 on a discretionary basis as of December 31st, 2022.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

Compensation For Advisory Services Fees

Balance Investments investment advisory services may include the management of some or all of a client's assets.

Assets are typically invested in exchange traded funds, mutual funds, individual stocks and bonds. Fund companies charge each fund shareholder an investment management fee that is disclosed in the fund prospectus. Brokerage firms may charge a transaction fee for the purchase of some securities. Custodians may charge fees including, but not limited to, management fees, custodial fees, taxes and transfer fees. Clients are always free to use a brokerage service of their choice. Balance Investments does not charge securities sales commissions.

Advisory services fees are not negotiable.

Balance Investments advisory services fee is calculated on the first day of the month, based on the aggregate market value of the assets managed for the client on the last business day of the previous month, multiplied by one-twelfth of the corresponding annual fee rate (i.e., 2.0% ÷ 12 = 0.167%).

The investment advisory services fee tiers are as follows:

Assets Managed	Monthly Fee Rate	Corresponding Annual Fee Rate
Up to $250,000.....	0.167%	2.00%
$250,001 to $750,000.....	0.146%	1.75%
$750,001 to $1,500,000.....	0.125%	1.50%
$1,500,001 to $2,500,000.....	0.104%	1.25%
$2,500,001 to $5,000,000.....	0.083%	1.00%
Over $5,000,000.....	0.063%	0.75%

Balance Investments offers comprehensive and modular financial planning and asset management services.

A written financial plan may include, but is not limited to: a net worth statement; a cash flow statement; a review of investment accounts, including a review of asset allocation and repositioning recommendations; strategic tax planning; a review of retirement accounts and plans including recommendations; a review of insurance policies and recommendations for changes, if needed; one or more retirement scenarios; estate planning review and recommendations; and education planning with funding recommendations. Detailed investment advice and specific recommendations are provided as part of the financial plan.

The fee for a financial plan is based on a combination of flat fees for meetings and an hourly fee for planning work with a $600 minimum. The first and second appointments are billed at a flat $250 combined, with all other financial planning work billed at $175 per hour. The typical first year, written financial plan fee ranges from $600 to $2,100 and may take from 1.5 to 12 hours to prepare, depending upon the complexity of a client's financial situation and whether a client has selected a comprehensive financial plan or an a la carte selection of financial plan modules as described in Item 4 Advisory Business.

At the end of the first meeting, total financial planning fee estimates are given. Non-refundable payment of one-third (1/3) of the total financial planning fee estimate may be required before work begins with the remaining two-thirds (2/3) or total amount due upon presentation of the plan. The criteria for determining the financial planning fee estimates are based on the level of financial planning service selected by the client (i.e. comprehensive or modular, and the number of and specific modules selected) in combination with the complexity of the client's financial situation (including, but not limited to, the number of existing accounts to be reviewed, account types, asset types, existing plans and stated and disclosed financial needs and objectives of the client). Since financial planning relies in part on a discovery process, situations occur where a client is unaware of certain financial exposures or predicaments. In the event that a client's situation is significantly different than disclosed at the initial meeting, a revised fee estimate will be provided for mutual agreement. Subsequent work, including reviews, will be billed at $175 per hour.

The outstanding total amount of financial planning fee is due upon presentation of the plan.

Financial planning fees are not negotiable.

Paid Registration and Complimentary Seminars and Webinars

Balance Investments conducts both complimentary and paid registration financial education seminars and webinars. The fee for paid registration seminars and webinars varies per event and the registration fee is always made public and paid in advance of the event. Complimentary events are offered at no cost. All seminars and webinars are open to the public, including current clients. Clients are allowed to attend all events at no cost.

Unless a client has received the Firm's disclosure brochure at least 48 hours prior to signing the investment advisory contract, the investment advisory contract may be terminated by the client within five (5) business days of signing the contract without incurring any advisory fees.

Payment of Investment Advisory Service Fees

Investment advisory service fees will be deducted directly from managed accounts by the qualified, independent custodian holding funds and securities. Investment advisory service fees, with the exception of college savings accounts, are charged monthly, at the beginning of each month, in arrears, for the previous month. Investment advisory service fees for college savings accounts will be calculated monthly, in arrears, for the previous month, and charged on a quarterly basis. Fees are deducted from client accounts.

Non-refundable financial planning fee payments of one-third (1/3) of the total financial planning fee estimate may be required before work begins with the remaining two-thirds (2/3) due or total amount due upon presentation of the plan. Financial planning fees may be paid by check, money order, debit card, credit card or bank draft. Cash payments are not accepted. Fees are generally due upon receipt of estimate as outlined above and/or in full by final invoice.

Payment of Other Types of Fees or Expenses

Fees paid by invoice are due within 7 days of the invoice date. A late fee of $75 will be added to unpaid invoices within the 7 day allowance. Fees unpaid by invoice may be deducted from client accounts.

Per account termination fee or per account transfer out fee is $75 per account terminated or per account transferred out.

Fees from third party advisors may be withdrawn directly from the client's accounts with the client written authorization. Fees withdrawn will vary depending on the third party advisor. Clients should review the ADV Part 2A of the third party advisor for additional information.

Prepayment of Investment Advisory Fees

Balance Investments may charge non-refundable financial planning fee payments of one-third (1/3) of the total financial planning fee estimate before financial planning work begins. Balance Investments does not charge any other investment advisory fees in advance.

Outside Compensation for the Sale of Securities to Clients

Balance Investments and any associated persons are not paid any sales, service or administrative fees for the sale of mutual funds or any other investment products with respect to managed advisory assets. However, associated persons of Balance Investments may be licensed to sell insurance and annuity products through various independent insurance companies. These associated persons, in their capacity as independent insurance agents, may sell insurance products to advisory clients. These individuals will receive normal and customary commissions as a result of selling insurance as well as advisory fees for providing advisory services through Balance Investments. Clients are hereby advised that such commissions and advisory fees are separate and apart from the fees charged by the Firm.

Clients are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to purchase insurance or annuity products or receive investment advice through these associated persons in their separate capacities as insurance agents and/or advisory representatives of Balance Investments. However, if the client freely chooses to implement the plan through such individuals, the investment adviser used will be Balance Investments and commissions/fees will be earned in addition to any fees paid for advisory services provided by the Firm.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Balance Investments does not charge fees based on a share of capital gains or the capital appreciation of the assets held in client accounts.

Item 7 Types of Clients

Balance Investments provides financial and investment advice to individuals, high net worth individuals and businesses.

Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Although minimum dollar amounts for accounts and minimum annual fees for accounts are not imposed, Balance Investments does not accept all accounts. Suitability of client accounts to be managed is determined on a client by client basis. Our Firm also reserves the right to decline services to any client or prospective client for any non-discriminatory reason.

Clients are expected to provide an adequate level of information and supporting documentation to Balance Investments throughout the engagement. This allows the Firm to determine the appropriateness of its financial planning or investment management strategy for the client or account, the client's source of funds and/or income levels, the client's or legal agent's authority to act on behalf of the account, among other matters.

It is also very important that clients keep the Firm informed on significant changes that may call for an update to their financial and investment plans. Events such as job changes, retirement, a windfall, marriage or divorce, or the purchase or sale of a home or business can have a large impact on client circumstances and needs. The Firm needs to be aware of such events so that adequate adjustments may be made to client financial plans in order to keep on track toward financial goals.

Balance Investments reserves the right to waive or reduce certain fees based on unique individual circumstances, special arrangements or existing relationships.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Balance Investments incorporates a client's age and life stage, financial needs, investment goals, time horizon and risk tolerance to set an effective investment strategy. Each client's portfolio is then tailored to this investment strategy using a mix of investments that may include exchange traded funds, mutual funds, cash investments, stocks and bonds.

Methods of Analysis

Balance Investments uses a combination of fundamental and technical analysis techniques to gather information and guide investment decisions.

Fundamental analysis considers: economic conditions, earnings, cash flow, book value projections, industry outlook, policies (as it relates to investments), historical data, price-earnings ratios, dividends, general level of interest rates, company management, debt ratios and tax benefits.

Technical analysis utilizes current and historical pricing information to help us identify trends in the broader domestic and foreign equity and fixed income markets, and in the underlying assets. This analysis involves the use of various technical indicators, such as moving averages and trend lines, among others.

Important additional sources of information include financial websites, newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, timing services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the SEC and company press releases. Other sources of information may include software such as Morningstar, mutual funds websites, etc.

Investment Strategies

Balance Investments' primary investment strategy is a strategic allocation using a core-satellite approach. This approach uses a combination of core exchange traded funds and mutual funds, and when suitable and appropriate, complements this core with alternative or tactical strategies, comprised of exchange traded funds, mutual funds or individual stocks and bonds. Portfolios are globally diversified to control the risk associated with over-concentration in domestic markets.

This primary investment strategy seeks a long term, buy-and-hold core investment portfolio with an emphasis on proper rebalancing.

The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time. Alternative strategies may involve frequent trading which can affect investment performance through increased transaction costs and/or taxes.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Balance Investments' approach continually keeps the risk of loss in mind.

Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

In the dual contract relationship, the advisory client will have one contract with Balance Investments and a separate contract directly with the other adviser. Under this arrangement, Balance Investments will serve as Adviser and client relationship manager and the other adviser will provide investment and administrative services.

Fees will be disclosed in each agreement between Balance Investments and the client and each third party adviser and the client. The combined fees will not exceed any limit imposed by any regulatory agency. Fees will vary depending on the third party advisor. Clients should review the ADV Part 2A of the third party adviser for additional information. Personal Trading Balance Investments maintains the required personal securities transactions records of employees and reviews them on a monthly basis.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Balance Investments selects custodians based on a number of factors, including: low and competitive fees, technology, trade execution, reputation, dependability and quality of service.

Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits

Soft dollars are revenue programs offered by broker-dealers where an advisor enters into an agreement to place security trades with the broker in exchange for research and other services. Balance Investments does not participate in soft dollar programs.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

Balance Investments has not selected a custodian on the basis that it will provide client referrals.

Directed Brokerage

Balance Investments does not recommend, request or require that clients direct the Firm to execute transactions through a specified broker-dealer. As an example, in a directed brokerage account, clients may not be able to achieve most favorable execution of transactions, may pay higher brokerage commissions and may receive less favorable prices. When referring clients to dealers, the Firm will only refer clients to dealers registered in states where the clients reside.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

Each investment account is reviewed internally on an ongoing basis to ensure that client needs and objectives are being met. All accounts are reviewed in the context of a client's stated investment objectives and guidelines. Cash needs will be adjusted as necessary. Clients will receive at least quarterly statements from the custodian. Each statement will summarize the specific investments currently held, the value of your portfolio and account transactions.

It is recommended that Balance Investments reviews client investment accounts and financial plans with them every six months and at least annually.

Material changes in a client's personal circumstances (i.e. marriage, child birth, death, retirement, job loss, physical moves or inheritance), changes in investment information, political events, the general economy or tax law changes can trigger more frequent reviews. It is the client's responsibility to communicate personal changes in order for the appropriate adjustments to be made.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Referrals from clients, estate planning attorneys, accountants, employees and personal friends are critically important to the success of Balance Investments. Balance Investments does not accept referral fees from other professionals when a prospect or client is referred to them.

Item 15 Custody

All assets are held at qualified custodians. Balance Investments will monitor the holdings within a client's portfolio and trade the account based on stated investment objectives and guidelines. The custodian will send, at least quarterly, statement summarizing the specific investments held, the value of portfolio and account transactions.

Clients are encouraged to review their statements and verify activities and transactions in their account and compare them to any statements additionally provided by Balance Investments.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Balance Investments manages assets on a discretionary basis with the client. The Firm's Investment Advisory Agreement sets forth the authority to buy and sell securities in whatever amounts are determined to be appropriate for the client's account and whether such transactions are with, or without, prior client approval. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities. For accounts not held with Balance Investments, clients must sign a separate, limited power of attorney giving Balance Investments discretionary authority.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

Balance Investments is expressly precluded from voting proxies. Clients understand and agree that they retain the right to vote all proxies, which are solicited for securities held in managed accounts. Any proxy solicitations received by the custodian will be immediately forward to clients to evaluate and vote.

Item 18 Financial Information

Balance Investments is not required to include financial information in the Disclosure Brochure since the Firm will not take custody of client funds or securities or bill client accounts six months or more in advance of $500.
